

REFERENCES

Name, telephone number, email and how you know the person. Co-workers are great references. Family and friends are just fair. List five (just to be sure)

Job Details

List the companies you work for, their address, phone number and the supervisor's name. You can get this information normally by looking up the company on the internet. This is so you can easily copy and paste into applications on the internet.